Our Program

It provides high-quality education in English, computer science, and values to low-income youth with high academic performance for three years. Students receive three hours of class a day in a complementary and parallel way to the education of the public system. At the end of the Program, they obtain international certifications that guarantee an advanced command of the English language and efficient management of Microsoft Office and programming tools. Our students also have a solid base of values and reflect the commitment to continue contributing to the country's socioeconomic development.

Our History

The idea was born when, in the year 2000, Ricardo Sagrera Bogle and his family created the Sagrera Palomo Foundation, an apolitical, non-profit foundation focused exclusively on contributing to education in El Salvador, based on the premise that education is the most effective vehicle for the social and economic development of any nation.

Since its inception, the ¡Supérate! He showed signs of being very visionary, anticipating the demands of a globalized world, where not only the English language and computing are essential tools for youth but also the values with which they guide their behavior.

The business vision of origin and their training in English, computing, and values have allowed young people to enter the labor market and continue higher education successfully, thus transforming their lives, families, and communities.

Centro ¡Superate! Fundacion Provivienda It was created in 2019 with the support of the Provivienda Foundation, with Grupo Provivienda being our sponsor. Three classes have currently graduated.
